Welcome to the Granny Show.

Today, we review Baba Vanga-
-because she was goddamn fucking good! What a blind fucker!

This is an open effort. We're still in the search of the 11 lost dragon balls, in order to peek into the future.

And nah, fuck Nostradamus!

(I trust this kiddo, and he doesn't like the grandpa)

Lock in.

The 11 lost dragon balls:

1st rule of the granny-
don't look her up.

People are rumiating the rumiation of the scratched phone of a lost Bulgarian villager when it comes to reporting our beloved granny, The Baba Vanga (Баба Ванга).

From Wikipedia, the information is rather limited, distorted and biased.

Yet it's a good point where to start pulling from. I also started covering her in https://x.com/RevelationPepe/status/1876128565428891899 and https://x.com/RevelationPepe/status/1876095123072991463

That 50 minutes video awaits processing through Gemini AI or other competent AI with long context-windows so that we can listen to her in English

Still a good track record. And, if one were to believe in fate, maybe the last two were just somehow delayed one cycle. How long is that? 15 years? Maybe

She made multiple predictions on Europe's fall

Some predictions attributed to her by her followers include:[25][26]

- World War II
- The Dissolution of the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia
- The Chernobyl disaster
- The date of Stalin's death
- The date of Tsar Boris III's death
- The date of her own death[23]
- The Kursk submarine disaster
- Princess Diana's death
- 1985 Northern Bulgaria earthquake[19]
- The September 11 attacks
- 2004 Boxing Day Tsunami
- The election of an African-American as the 44th President of the United States[24][27]

Some predictions which have proved false include:[24]

- A nuclear war, between 2010 and 2016, which would lead to the abandonment of Europe.
- That the 44th President of the United States would be the "last US President".

St Petka of Bulgaria, Baba Vanga's church and grave.

Reference 34 on Wikipedia sends you to vanga.ru, which nowadays doesn't work, hence why we need Internet Wayback Machine to access it. And still, finding up info on here is not an easy task, as the website was in Russian and it's slow.

https://web.archive.org/web/20200710064245/http://vanga.ru/

In you can find some testimonies of her. The upshot of this website is the myriad of nowadays inaccessible predictions of her coming from "The Great Encyclopedia of Vanga (in Russian)", a series of 11 out of the originally conceived 20 editions includinghttps://web.archive.org/web/20111011194924/http://vanga.ru/about_meet_vanga.html first hand testimonies of her predictions. I was not able to find any other compendium of her first hand predictions besides this alleged newspaper covering again the nowadays broken website, and a random forum covering mostly the same contents. Here's an AI translation of it.

2000 - 2020.
In our everyday consciousness, the peaks of activity in the political life of Russia will fall on the years 2000, 2004, 2008, 2012, 2016 and 2020.
Who will Russians prefer in the presidential elections of these years? Will the institution of the presidency even exist in Russia or, as some politicians and political scientists say, will the post of President in our country be abolished over time?
These and many other questions were touched upon in a conversation with the clairvoyant Vanga, when in April-May 1996, "delegations" of election headquarters of a number of candidates for President of the Russian Federation began to frequent the city of Petrich. It is known for certain: in the spring days of 1996, Vanga was visited by trusted persons of V.V. Zhirinovsky, G.A. Zyuganov, A.I. Lebed, G.A. Yavlinsky, and also Moscow Mayor Yu. M. Luzhkov.
At first, none of the envoys of high-ranking politicians managed to talk to the clairvoyant. Vanga's answers were short and angry: "Why did you come?", "Return to Russia!" However, after persuasion, numerous gifts and support from the accompanying translators, the clairvoyant nevertheless told the visiting delegations about the President of Russia in 2000 and the subsequent presidency.
Since this confidential information is still known only to a very narrow circle of people, we will refrain from publishing it in "Vangelin Chronograph" for now (until the start of the 2000 election campaign). For the analysis of life activity connected with the practice of clairvoyant Vanga shows: precise knowledge of future events and people taking appropriate measures in 6 cases out of 100 changes the initially predetermined course of events. In other words, a certain percentage of cases has been officially registered when a person, thanks to the measures taken, managed to "outwit" fate.
Fragments of the conversation of clairvoyant Vanga with representatives of delegations about the presidential elections of 2000-2020, which became known to our correspondent directly from the fortune teller, will be published in one of the sections of the website vanga.ru.
Unspecified date
According to Vanga's prediction, a fateful event is coming: "a tall man will appear... the Eighth will come - he will sign the final peace on the planet."
Vanga does not name this great politician and peacemaker and will not name him. She does not specify the exact date.
If we think about it, then everything depends on the starting point and on which side we are talking about.
Let's say the clairvoyant Vanga had Russia in mind. Then we can assume that this Eighth is the eighth ruler of the country: V. I. Lenin, I. V. Stalin, N. S. Khrushchev, L. I. Brezhnev, Yu. V. Andropov, K. U. Chernenko, M. S. Gorbachev and the Eighth - B. N. Yeltsin (?). But there may just as well be a different countdown here: the Eighth is the eighth president of Russia, either after M. S. Gorbachev (he was, after all, the president of the USSR), or after B. N. Yeltsin. And why the countdown from them?
Vanga's prediction refers to January 1998. And there is a key phrase there: "The two greatest leaders of the world (apparently, Ronald Reagan, the US president in 1981-1989, and Mikhail Gorbachev - Ed.) shook hands to prove that it is possible and necessary to take the first step towards achieving universal peace." And only then comes the phrase about the Eighth. Let's quote it again, but in full: "But much time will pass, much water will flow under the bridge, until the Eighth comes - he will sign the final peace on the planet."
But that same Eighth with a higher degree of probability may also be a future great American politician, if we start counting into the future from Ronald Reagan (the 40th President of the USA).
Then the hypothetical Eighth is the 48th President of the USA from the generally foreseeable future.
2008
Mankind will get rid of a terrible disease - cancer. They will discover a cure for oncological diseases. It will contain a lot of iron, since it is iron that is currently lacking in human food and drinking water.
NWO?
If 40th is the 1st, then the 47th US president would be the eigth. hat is Donald Trump.

The President of the Republic of Kalmykia (Khalmg Tangch) Kirsan Nikolaevich Ilyumzhinov learns from a conversation with the clairvoyant Vanga that there are large natural oil reserves in the Chernozemelsky region of Kalmykia (not far from the Caspian Sea).
In the same year, as predicted by Vanga, Kalmyk oil workers discover the Chernozemelsky oil field.

In April 1994, the Nash Sovremennik publishing house released the monumental novel Pyramid by the patriarch of Russian literature Leonid Maksimovich Leonov. The book re-evaluates the key socio-political ideas and the entire reality of the outgoing 20th century in the light of Christianity.
The presentation of the novel Pyramid takes place in May 1994. The novel is highly praised by literary critics and the public. It gains worldwide fame.
Soon after the presentation of the novel Pyramid and the celebration of L.M. Leonov's 95th anniversary, the great writer died.
All these events, down to the smallest detail, were predicted by the clairvoyant Vanga back in 1974.

November 1995.
The President of the International Chess Federation, Florencio Campomanes (Philippines), who has headed FIDE since 1982, unexpectedly resigns.
Traditionally, very authoritative and famous chess players and even world chess champions were elected as FIDE presidents: Max Euwe, the world champion, the crusher of the legendary Alekhine, was the third president in the history of FIDE (1970-1978); Fridrik Olafsson, the Icelandic international grandmaster, became the fourth president of FIDE (1978-1982). And Florencio Campomanes himself, the first Filipino national master.
And so in November 1995, a sensation occurs, which the world press comments with rapture. Quite unexpectedly for the entire chess world, the Russian Chess Federation (which, by the way, votes against) and even unexpectedly for Kirsan Ilyumzhinov himself, it was he, the President of Kalmykia, who was elected the sixth president in the history of the entire International Chess Federation (FIDE).
Then it turns out that all these multi-move and cunning intrigues are simply the result of predictions by the clairvoyant Vanga.
And this is not a joke or a tale. Personally, the President of Kalmykia Kirsan Ilyumzhinov officially and repeatedly confirmed in the press: in the summer of 1995 (5 months before the sensational event) Vanga told him that she "sees two presidents Kirsans!"

July 3, 1996
On July 3, 1996, the second round of general elections is held in the Russian Federation. Despite the height of the summer cottage season, Russians come to the polling stations to choose the future of Russia. The majority cast their votes for the President of the Russian Federation Boris Nikolayevich Yeltsin, who continues the course of reforms. He becomes the President of Russia for a second term.
The election campaign was long and grueling. Political scientists, experts and commentators gave polar forecasts. The most accurate, as it turned out later, was the "forecast" of the clairvoyant Vanga.
It is reliably known: in early March 1996, representatives of the election headquarters of the President of the Russian Federation Boris Nikolayevich Yeltsin came to the clairvoyant Vanga on a private visit to the city of Petrich. Vanga's prediction: "I see Boris ..." During a rather lengthy conversation, Vanga was keenly interested in everything happening in Russia. The headquarters envoys were assured that Boris Yeltsin would certainly win the elections.
Neither before nor after the elections did members of B.N. Yeltsin's election headquarters use Vanga's predictions for ideological or propaganda purposes. It was decided to refrain from such arguments, since the election result had already been predetermined.

August 11, 1996.
In the government hospital of Sofia on August 11, 1996 at 10:10 am Evangelia Pandeva (Gushcherova) - the great clairvoyant Vanga dies.
According to the folk healer Lyudmila Kim, the correspondent of the magazine "Friendship" ("Rossiyane") Elena Andreeva and many others, the clairvoyant Vanga named the date of her future death back in 1990.

July 1998
The first volume of the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga" is published in July 1998 and immediately becomes a sensation.
In April-May 1998, almost all regional (provincial, city and district) newspapers announce the upcoming release of the "Great Encyclopedia of Vanga". Their total circulation is over 6 million copies.
But the "Encyclopedia of Vanga" itself is published in a relatively small print run and is among the elite books.
It is also interesting that in 1991 Vanga predicted the exact date of the release of the encyclopedia about her life and predictions. Then she asked Elena Andreeva to tell the famous Russian poet, editor-in-chief of the magazine "Friendship" ("Russians") Vladimir Firsov that "the big book will come out in exactly seven years...".

2018
Scientists will discover a unique medicine needed to restore human strength and health. The drug will contain mainly horse, dog and turtle hormones.

2024
An era of peace and prosperity will be established in Russia, which will last exactly 1000 years.

2050
Scientists will make major discoveries in the field of the immaterial. Spaceships will begin to fly at the speed of light.

2170
Hungarian scientists will build equipment with which they will be the first to catch signals from space from an extraterrestrial civilization.

2179
The people of Earth will establish contacts with their brothers in mind from other worlds. (Most likely we are talking about representatives from the planet Vamfim)

4000 CE.
End of the Age of Aquarius.

7000.
The end of the world year. But not the end of the world. There will be no apocalypse, no global flood, and no global fire.
As a result of the Earth's collision with a large comet (celestial body), there will be great disasters, natural cataclysms, earthquakes, ecological catastrophes, and abrupt climate change.
The following picture, Vanga's prediction, refers to this period of time: "I sometimes see such a picture: blackened and scorched earth, and a handful of people, like shadows, are moving along it." Vanga did not say anything about the scale of natural disasters on Earth as a result of the cosmic cataclysm.
According to the definition of the clairvoyant Vanga, there are three times: "great time", simply "time" and "times".
The concept of "times" includes the period of the world year and all the events predicted by Vanga , which we have combined in "Vangelin Chronograph". Of course, not all of Vanga's predictions are included in the chronograph: many of them are placed in different volumes and parts of the encyclopedia as examples and illustrations.
The most amazing quality of the clairvoyant Vanga is her supernatural, or rather, natural gift (since nothing mystical happens) to easily move in time and space: both in the distant past and in the thickness of the layers of future times.
Naturally, it is not Vanga's physical hypostasis that is capable of moving, but her spiritual essence. And there are quite scientific explanations for this. This will be discussed on the following pages of our encyclopedia.

You may also find some of her predictions about the past, quite interesting if you ask me, especially when compared with this commentary of the Annunaki and their planet, Vamfim.

Vanga on the Vamfim aliens and the possible collision of a celestial body with the Earth

But as for the very distant future (in particular, the year 7000), Vanga's predictions about the end of the world or a global catastrophe are not so optimistic. And in the "Evangelical Chronograph" in connection with this it is said:

"As a result of the collision of the Earth with a large comet (celestial body), great disasters, natural cataclysms, earthquakes, ecological catastrophes, and a sharp change in climate will occur.

The following picture, which the clairvoyant Vanga saw, refers to this period of time: "Here I sometimes see such a picture: blackened and burnt earth, and a handful of people, similar to shadows, are moving along it..." (for more details, see: v. 1, pp. 41-42, 51).

However, I will clarify: Vanga did not report anything about the scale of natural disasters on Earth as a result of a cosmic cataclysm at the end of the world year (7000).

And all this is about the collision of the Earth with a large celestial body in the very distant future. And here it is necessary to especially emphasize and place all the accents: the calculations of Kirill Butusov, an astrophysicist at the Academy of Civil Aviation from St. Petersburg, a member of the International Association of Planetologists, that very soon - in 2012! - the Earth will collide with a large body ("Arguments and Facts", No. 34, August 19-25, 2009) - are completely and utterly wrong!! To the last period and comma!!

And even more so, the astrophysicist Kirill Butusov initially incorrectly proceeds from the premise that in 2012 the Earth will collide with a "wandering planet" which "moves away from the Sun by tens of billions of kilometers and, returning once every 3600 years, ends up between Mars and Jupiter."

And although the astrophysicist Butusov operates with seemingly objective data ("wandering planet Nibiru ", "astronomers of Ancient Babylon", "billions of kilometers", "period of revolution of 3600 years", etc.) - this is not quite so! More precisely: not at all so!! And from the category of children's horror stories, this statement of Butusov: "In 2012, even if the Earth avoids a head-on collision, the attraction of a giant flying by at a distance of several million kilometers may be so strong that it will tear off the daughter of the Earth, like fluff from a dandelion."

And in fact, the wandering planet is not the ancient Babylonian Nibiru at all, but Vamfim , well known to the clairvoyant Vanga ! And the planet Vamfim brings to our Earth not universal destruction, but universal absolute knowledge.

Yes, the clairvoyant Vanga spoke many times about this wandering planet. And she called it Vamfim . And she called it in this context: not in connection with a global catastrophe threatening the Earth, but in speeches about short but vivid encounters with aliens.

"...They say that they fly from the planet Vamfim- the third from Earth, at least that's what I hear. For what purpose they fly in - I don't know. Sometimes one of them takes me by the hand and leads me to their planet Vamfim . I follow him. I walk on the ground (but it's not the ground!), strewn with stars. As if I were a mother-in-law.

Those who lead me move very quickly, in leaps. On their planet Vamfim everything is very beautiful, I just can't describe it. For some reason I don't see any dwellings anywhere. These creatures are very strict. When they speak, their voices carry like an echo..." (Said by Vanga in 1988, vol. 2, p. 178).

So, Vanga and aliens . In order to avoid repetition, I refer readers to the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga", where there are almost entire volumes and sections on "aliens", "higher powers", "elders in dazzlingly shiny clothes", "heavenly messengers", "extraterrestrial beings" and " residents of Vamfim " (see: vol. I, pp. 41, 141-146, vol. 2, pp. 162-184, vol. 5, pp. 9-142, etc.).

And here it is very important - for both philosophical, and astronomical, and astrophysical understanding of universal problems - messengers", "extraterrestrial beings" and " residents of Vamfim " (see: vol. I, pp. 41, 141-146, vol. 2, pp. 162-184, vol. 5, pp. 9-142, etc.).

And here it is very important - for both philosophical, and astronomical, and astrophysical understanding of universal problems - to comprehend the following intersection of coordinates: aliens and specific dates.

There is such a feature: "Vanga very sparingly and cautiously predicted events of a global scale" (vol. 5, p. 146). And even more so, when it came to meetings with extraterrestrial beings and the universal chronograph, she did not seem to name specific dates. And yet these dates are calculated and computed based on the calculations of Vanga's predictions and their comparison with the facts of cultural studies and astrology. Even if sometimes indirectly. I will explain with specific examples.

For example, in the "Evangelical Chronograph" it is stated: "2179. People of the Earth will establish contacts with brothers in mind from other worlds ..." (vol. 1, p. 41). However, Vanga naturally did not say so directly: "... in 2179 ...". Then where did this very "2179" transform from?

And the logic and calculations here were as follows. Here is a record made in May 1979 strictly from the words of the clairvoyant Vanga herself: "In 200 years, man will establish contact with brothers in mind from other worlds... (vol. I, p. 154). And it is from here that the sought-after date of the coming contact of earthlings with aliens Vamfim is formed : 2179 is 1979 plus 200 years.

This example is very simple: purely arithmetic. But more often it is necessary to resort to "star algebra": to combine arithmetic with astronomy.

And again in the "Evangelical Chronograph" there is a universal-terrestrial date: "1612 BC. Another visit to Earth by representatives of an extraterrestrial civilization from a hypothetical planet of the Solar system..." (vol. I, p. 20).And here is how this date was calculated based on the sayings of the clairvoyant Vanga and an analysis of publications in the Bulgarian press.

You can't see it, but there are many strange flying machines in the sky right now. I see three "people" inside each one (the word "people" is in quotes, of course). I hear the words: " A big event is being prepared! " The aliens don't explain to me what kind of event the aliens are preparing ..." (Said by Vanga in 1988, v. 2, p. 177).

"I've been seeing them for about a year now. They are transparent. They look like a person's reflection in water. Their hair is soft, like duck down, and forms something like a halo around their heads. Behind my back I see something that looks like wings... They work a lot, clearly and in an organized manner, they say that in seven thousand years there have been few people through whom they have made direct connections with the Earth..." (Said by Vanga in 1988, vol. 2, p. 178).

"One of them said to me: "Stand up and listen, and we will tell you something about the future. Do not be afraid of anything, because there is a guard at your door. Here it is: the world is expecting many changes, it will be reborn and then destroyed again. Balance will come when we begin to talk to people!.." (Said by Vanga in 1988, vol. 2, p. 176).

All these sayings of the clairvoyant Vanga about the representatives of the planet Vamfim were strictly documented by correspondents of the Soviet-Bulgarian magazine "Friendship" directly in Petrich and Rupite in the same 1988.

Then comes the precise and accurate analysis of the press, calculations, computations, comparisons - and a lot becomes clear.

But if very briefly... The Bulgarian youth newspaper "Narodna Mladezh" (August 2, 1988) publishes an article about a woman from Plovdiv who has the ability to "hear her hands" and who was visited by "extraterrestrial beings". And at the same time, they hypnotized her and did something with her brain.

Almost immediately. The authoritative Bulgarian newspaper "Rabotnichesko Delo" (September 23, 1988) under the headline "Where is Planet X?" publishes an article by its Moscow correspondent. You can read this publication in detail (The Great Encyclopedia of Vanga (vol. 2, pp. 181-182). And here, for astronomical calculations, we are only interested in the fact that, according to the famous Turkmen scientist Odek Odekov: "... approximately once every 3600 years, our Earth is located favorably in relation to planet "X". That unknown tenth planet of the Solar System, which rotates in a very elongated inclined orbit, moving away from the Sun and the Earth by tens of billions of kilometers. And it is from this planet that "extraterrestrial beings" fly to Earth every 3600 years.

And when we read Vanga the publications from these Bulgarian newspapers, the clairvoyant said ... In the first case: "What is surprising? Yes, they (aliens. - A.B.) are already walking among us." And in the second: "Everything is so ...They are from the planet Vamfim ... And they led me there by the hand ..."

whom they have made direct connections with the Earth..." (Said by Vanga in 1988, vol. 2, p. 178).

Almost immediately. The authoritative Bulgarian newspaper "Rabotnichesko Delo" (September 23, 1988) under the headline "Where is Planet X?" publishes an article by its Moscow correspondent. You can read this publication in detail (The Great Encyclopedia of Vanga (vol. 2, pp. 181-182). And here, for astronomical calculations, we are only interested in the fact that, according to the famous Turkmen scientist Odek Odekov: "... approximately once every 3600 years, our Earth is located favorably in relation to planet "X". That unknown tenth planet of the Solar System, which rotates in a very elongated inclined orbit, moving away from the Sun and the Earth by tens of billions of kilometers. And it is from this planet that "extraterrestrial beings" fly to Earth every 3600 years.

And when we read Vanga the publications from these Bulgarian newspapers, the clairvoyant said ... In the first case: "What is surprising? Yes, they (aliens. - A.B.) are already walking among us." And in the second: "Everything is so ...They are from the planet Vamfim ... And they led me there by the hand...".

And from here the sought universal-earthly date is transformed: the visit of aliens to Earth - 1612 BC: this is 1988 minus 3600 years.

And there is another objective way of dating the fulfillment and implementation of Vanga's predictions. The method is no longer purely arithmetic, but rather associative. Figuratively speaking: stellar trigonometry.

For example, in the "Evangelical Chronograph" (vol. I, pp. 19-20) there is information that, according to Vanga, "... intelligent life has an extraterrestrial origin and was brought to Earth from outside, from space - just in

But when? And how can the concept of "great year" be brought under the framework of a specific universal and earthly time?? It was clear: by "great year" Vanga meant "world year". However, it is not at all the "world year" that, according to the interpretation of ancient Greek, ancient and medieval astrology, is associated with the end of the world. With that universal-earthly period after which, after the global flood and the world fire, all earthly events begin to repeat themselves.

It was very important to calculate the framework of the "great year" and here is another reason. It was the date of the beginning of the current "world year" that Vanga seemed to connect with the beginning of the current civilization, which had both periods of prosperity and periods of decline.

From ancient philosophical treatises Of course, we knew the length of the astrological world year: according to Heraclitus - 18,000 years, according to Orpheus - 120,000 years, according to Antiochus - 1,753,005 years, according to Berossus - 2,160,000 years, according to Cassander - 3,600,000 years, according to Diogenes the Stoic - 6,480,000 years. And we used this knowledge in our conversation with Vanga.

And having patiently listened to all our long and abstruse calculations, Vanga, as always, briefly, weightily and categorically said in Bulgarian: "... Cassandrushka the truth is close... 0 great world year correctly speaking...". And although everything is clear here without translation, I will duplicate it in translation into Russian: "... Cassandrushka is closer to the truth... 0 great world year correctly speaking...".

And that's it! Key words!! And the date we are looking for: 3593000 BC - the beginning of the world year and the universal milestone of the extraterrestrial origin of intelligent life on Earth. And 3593000 BC is 3600000 years of the duration of the world year according to Cassander (philosopher and king of Macedonia) minus the 7000th year, i.e. the end date of the great year.

Vanga's predictions for 2011, 2012...

Looking through letters, the Internet, and the forum about Vanga, it became obvious that it was necessary to explain to readers the approach, specifics, logic, and system-forming factors in dating the predictions of the Great Bulgarian prophetess Vanga.

Often - and rightly so! - thoughtful readers are increasingly interested in the concrete and specific: " Vanga and predictions for 2010? ", " Predictions for the coming 2011 ?", " Vanga and the damned 2012 ?". That very... When some famous astrophysicists - and quite high-ranking ones at that! - predict an imminent universal catastrophe: the collision of the Earth with a wandering planet.

And what did Vanga actually say in these particular time frames - 2009, 2010, 2011, and 2012 - about global catastrophes, the third world war , the end of the world , a head-on collision with a giant celestial body, and the apocalypse? And what did the clairvoyant Vanga predict about the crisis , the inevitable "black August" and again about its specific and subject areas of disasters?? And, finally, what: aliens are preparing an event - is this really serious? And what was Vanga's last prediction ?

I will say right away: Vanga warned many times about possible cataclysms on a national and global scale at the turn of two millennia. And she warned for many years. And, as time has shown, these then still future pictures of natural disasters and misfortunes really transformed into realities that are taking place in 2002-2009.

And the sayings of the clairvoyant: "it will be impossible to eat the meat of sheep, cows and goats..." (said by Vanga in 1989, v.3, p.158) and "many previously unknown diseases will appear..." (said by Vanga in 1989, v.3, p.161) isn't this really about 2002-2009, when globally - in a broad geographical sense - first the countries of Western Europe, and then the whole world were overwhelmed by serious diseases: "mad cow disease" and "swine flu"?!

And the current global crisis (2008, 2009 and others) both in power, and in the economy, and in the souls of people of all countries was also predicted by Vanga! And even about the terrible tragedy - the fatal accident at the Sayano-Shushenskaya hydroelectric power station on August 17, 2009 - albeit indirectly or perhaps indirectly, but Vanga spoke! She spoke!!! And very seriously and timely she warned: "Take care of the Heart of Siberia!" Listen carefully!! Word for word! This is how it sounded from Vanga's lips in Bulgarian, anxiously and reverently: "Skhranyavam sercebiene Sibir!" And after all, it is heard through the prism of this sadly warning utterance of the clairvoyant: and the beating of the furious waters of the Sayano-Shushenskaya hydroelectric power station, and the abnormal vibration of the rumbling turbines, and the arrhythmia of the hearts of the 75 victims.

Moreover: not only Vanga,but other famous Bulgarian clairvoyants (for example, Vili Getova) also called Siberia a sore point for Russia at the turn of the two millennia!!

And in order not to be unfounded, I quote the statement of Vili Getova, said in 1999: "the turn of two millennia... will become the period of the Apocalypse for some countries. The planet will face natural disasters, which will begin in the USA (!) and will mainly affect Western countries. Many cities will suffer seriously. As for Russia, then... danger threatens... sparsely populated areas in the Far North and in Siberia (!)" (vol. 9, pp. 214 - 215). Again, Siberia and the association with the tragedy at the Sayano-Shushenskaya hydroelectric power station... And sparsely populated areas without heat and light.

And the current global world crisis (since this topic is now on everyone's lips!) should also be discussed in more detail, but precisely through the prism of the sayings of the clairvoyant Vanga. Moreover, the word " crisis " (in Bulgarian: "kriza" - feminine gender) is repeated quite often in Vanga's sayings in various contexts.

And here, too, I strictly cite from the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga". And this is all about the vast world crisis of 2008 - 2009 - 2010. So judge for yourself the objectivity, impartiality and impartiality of the sayings:

"Many people will suffer. Misfortunes will fall on them from everywhere, all nations will be affected... And you do not think about anything and do not see what awaits you... People will walk without shoes and without clothes, live without food, fuel and light..." (Said by Vanga in 1995, v. 8, pp. 156-157).

"We will get out of the crisis if a good, honest leader comes! And are there many honest ones now? Where are they? There are none!" (Said by Vanga in 1995, vol. 5, p. 199).

"...Disasters will shake the planet, bad people will gain the upper hand, and thieves, drunkards, informers and harlots will multiply in numbers..." (Said by Vanga in 1980, vol. 3, p. 156).

"To overcome the crisis, it is necessary first of all to follow Christian virtues, strengthen moral principles and, on this basis, take concrete actions..." (Said by Vanga in 1980, vol. 1, e. 147).

"...If faith in God is one of the conditions for achieving a bright future, then the other is the unity of the nation..." (Said by Vanga in 1979, vol. 1, p. 150).

" A crisis will arise, which will be resolved one way or another, but again depending on Russia... " (Said by Vanga in 1994, vol. 9, p. 216).

Now about the end of the world and the third world war . And here the predictions of the clairvoyant Vanga are very specific and unambiguous:
"There will be no apocalypse, no worldwide flood, and no worldwide fire!" (vol. 1, pp. 41-42);
"There will be no Kiev apocalypse!" (vol. 3, p. 152);
"We will overcome everything! There is no war and there will not be. Everything will work out..." (vol. 5, p. 192).

True, when Vanga says "there will be no war", she "does not indicate a time period" (vol. 5, p. 154). Moreover, the clairvoyant, answering the question of whether humanity will face major wars and natural disasters in the near future, clarifies with all certainty: "There will be individual outbreaks, but it will not affect everyone at once" (vol. 2, p. 161).

Vanga about the past

Beginning of the Great World Year. Cosmos with Christ and the Apostles. Engraving of the 16th century.

3,593,000 years BC.
According to Vanga, the specified date is the beginning of the great, world year. It will last 3,600,000 years. This approximately coincides with the duration of the world year, which was determined from ancient books by Cassander (c. 355 - 298 BC), a philosopher, Macedonian commander, king of Macedonia from 306 BC.
However, if in ancient Greek philosophy, ancient and medieval astrology the world year is a period after which, after the Great Flood and the World Fire, all earthly events begin to repeat themselves, then Vanga gives a completely different interpretation of the great year. According to Vanga, large, highly organized civilizations previously existed on Earth. The start date of the current world year is the beginning of the current civilization, which had both periods of prosperity and periods of decline.
Intelligent life is of extraterrestrial origin and was brought to Earth from outside, from space - just at the beginning of the great year.

Visit of the Earth by representatives of an extraterrestrial civilization. The hypothetical planet Vamfim , from where the envoys arrived, is located within the Solar system.

4300 BC.
Beginning of the Age of Taurus. The civilizations of Mesopotamia, Egypt and Ancient India emerge and develop.

2200 BC.
End of the Taurus era. Beginning of the Aries era. Formation of the Jewish civilization and flourishing of Greek culture. Strengthening of aggressive and destructive principles in people.

Sign of the Age of Aries

1612 BC.
Another visit to Earth by representatives of an extraterrestrial civilization from a hypothetical planet of the Solar System. The aliens leave sarcophagi with the key to Absolute Knowledge on Earth. The sarcophagi are dispersed in secure storage facilities.

450-410 BC.
In ancient Greek literature and art, a traditional image of the mythical singer Orpheus, the son of the Thracian river god Egar (a variant of Apollo and the muse Calliope), was formed. This image of the legendary singer has reached our days and is interpreted in this way by modern historians, literary and artistic figures.
In 1983, Vanga refuted the traditional image of the legendary singer Orpheus, stating that his gift was not heavenly, but earthly. The clairvoyant described in detail the portrait and character of Orpheus, and told what he was like in real life.

150 BC.
End of the Aries era. Beginning of the Pisces era. Vanga associates this era with Jesus Christ and the spread of Christianity.

Sign of the Age of Pisces

October 15, 985 A.D.
It was on this day, more than a thousand years ago, according to Vanga, that a powerful volcanic eruption occurred in the Rupite Valley (Bulgaria). Lava flows flooded the large and wealthy city of Melnik. Thousands of citizens who highly valued education and unique cultural values: works of literature and art perished in the fire.
Since then, a powerful stream of positive energy has been emanating from the bowels of the earth at the site of the city buried by lava. Nowadays, in the town of Rupite, not far from the ancient ruins, there is a small summer house where Vanga received visitors. Nearby stands the Church of St. Petka of Bulgaria, built with funds from the clairvoyant.
The positive energy emanating from the earth here nourished the strength and gift of the clairvoyant Vanga for many years. The rays also helped numerous migratory birds, whose route has historically run over the fertile Rupite Valley.

Beginning of the 11th century — end of the 14th century.
Vanga told in detail about the main events from the history of the so-called First Bulgarian Kingdom (1018-1187) under the rule of Byzantium and the Second Bulgarian Kingdom (1187-1396). She told about episodes of the national liberation wars, vividly painted portraits of the heroes and false heroes of the Bulgarian people. Many of the pictures (facts) seen by Vanga were previously unknown to modern historians and major experts of that era.

1915-1940.
The famous Russian artist (member of the St. Petersburg Academy of Arts since 1905), archaeologist, public figure Nikolai Konstantinovich Roerich, who lived permanently in India since 1956
, creates amazing artistic canvases. Among them are "Heavenly Battle" and "Sign" (1915), "Guga Chohan" (1931), "Signs of Gesar", "Tibet. Monastery" and others.
In 1980, Vanga declared that the paintings of Nikolai Roerich are encrypted. They contain insights and predictions. Nikolai Roerich himself is not just an artist, but an inspired prophet. The time will come, and Svyatoslav Roerich (son of N.K. Roerich) will be able to reveal the secret meaning of the paintings. The world will learn very important information.

The famous Swedish diplomat Wallenberg disappeared without a trace in 1943. According to one version, he was captured by GPU officers and thrown into a concentration camp. According to another, he hid himself and after the war lived for many years in one of the Latin American countries under an assumed name. In August 1995, Vanga determined from a photograph that Wallenberg was dead. Then she clarified that, on the personal orders of Lavrentiy Beria, the Swedish diplomat was thrown into one of Stalin's camps, where he was soon destroyed.
In December 1995, Russian competent authorities declassified the personal file of the Swedish diplomat Wallenberg. Everything Vanga said was confirmed.

August 28, 1943
Bulgarian Tsar Boris III died on August 28, 1943. More than a year before this "black day" Tsar Boris came to the city of Petrich. Then, on April 8, 1942 , he had his first meeting with the clairvoyant Vanga. Vanga predicted to the Tsar that he would soon be able to "fit his possessions into a nutshell." And then she gave advice: "Remember the date - August 28. "

September 9, 1944.
On this day, a red flag was raised over the former palace of the Bulgarian Tsar Boris III.
Vanga predicted this event on February 2, 1943, during her second meeting with Tsar Boris. She was categorical and laconic: "You will lose your state. I see a red flag over your palace. "
Later (after the death of Boris III), Vanga was visited by the Tsar's worried relatives. It was September 1943. But the clairvoyant's verdict was unchanged: she still "saw" a red flag over the Tsar's residence.

On April 30, 1945,
Adolf Hitler lost the war to the USSR. On April 30, 1945, at 15:30, the Fuhrer committed suicide in the Reich Chancellery bunker.
Retribution overtook the Fuhrer 2 years and 2 months after Vanga predicted Hitler's inevitable defeat in World War II.
The day of the prophetic prophecy of the clairvoyant Vanga was recorded precisely in official documents:
February 2, 1943 .

As it can be seen in here, this website mostly overlaps with the previous archived one https://www.mir-haosa.ru/publ/predskazanija_vangi/1

I haven't really dig into this, but in this website someone claims to have some other yet unknown reports of Baba Vanga newageru.hypotheses.org/7200, which he then reviews in here https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wFonmm7uAUg, but I mostly overlooked that because it has the same issue as this video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YwBwHbgp470 it's in Russian, Bulgarian or something.

I believe her sensorial privation allowed her to "redirect" her visual part of the consciousness into other parts of the brain. This is discussed in vanga dot ru as well, but it's hard to find. Somehow she managed to tap in into a higher dimensional realm via her consciousness, using her unused visual antenna, and played with time with her "visions". Or maybe a higher entity used her to send us, humanity, signals about the past and future, so we may take appropriate action to prevent some of the worst possible fates, like the apparent WW3 we avoided around 2010.

This is also alleged by some of the FFG remote viewing guys - a days long sensorial privation may ease the remote viewing process, as if one had accumulated GPU resources or conscience energy, or something like that, which was eager to be used in whichever task. Call it "killing the boredom" if u want, I call it canalization. This also somehow happens when I do deep maths

An important point is to note how hard has been for something so valuable as visions of the future with an incredible track record (somewhere in the website it was said that only 6 out 100 of her predictions didn't come true) to see the light, the vanga dot ru is down and hidden!

And if you look her up, you will mostly find immediate fearporn unnuanced apocalyptic predictions. But this hides the true merit of the remote viewing she basically did for humanity at a high consistent degree for years.

She was a humble person, didn't seek fame nor glory, all the first hand reports we have are mostly the written reports of her oral reports of the visual reports she had, originally arranged in the brief censored whose images from the website I attach.

I don't know where one could get these books from nowadays. It seems they only printed 3500 copies of them. But given how proud the author seems to be about it, and the original failed intention of the web, https://web.archive.org/web/20111101200110/http://vanga.ru/from_author.html

From the author

I would like to immediately focus the attention of a wide range of readers, eminent scientists, and those in power on the following.
We have heard the word "innovations" literally everywhere, everywhere, wherever you look - it is floating and being said. What a good word! But here's the problem: it has not been fully understood. But "innovations" are: "in" (English) - "in", "within" + "innovations" (Russian) - that is, something new, just coming into use. In other words: "innovations" are what is "inside the new".
And here it emerges and puzzles... But this is: a paradox! A gap! A blunder! An inexplicable misunderstanding! Why suddenly among and within these "innovations" there was no place for "clairvoyance"?!
Why on the threshold of the 21st century: in the very boom and priority for the publication of many different dictionaries, reference books and encyclopedias... And very diverse: academic, scientific, popular science, educational, educational, general cultural... Why among this diversity there was no place for the publication - neither in Russian, nor in any other language of the peoples of the world - of a single more or less serious encyclopedia comprehending the Phenomenon of clairvoyance of the most famous Bulgarian fortuneteller. The one who is called in the world as babichka (Bulgarian) - grandmother Vanga.
And only in Russia in 1998 - 2002 an attempt was made to publish a multi-volume work entitled "The Great Encyclopedia of Vanga's Clairvoyance". Alas! This encyclopedia was then published in a tiny, exclusive print run: 4000 copies. As a publication of the magazine "Rossiyane" (formerly the Soviet-Bulgarian magazine "Druzhba"). But it also turned out to be unfinished: 11 volumes out of the planned 20 were published.
And yet this unfinished edition of the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga" became in world science (according to the review of the famous scientist - N. Kh. Valitov, Doctor of Chemical Sciences, Professor, Academician of the New York Academy of Sciences) - a serious and significant phenomenon of a consolidated and systematized scientific understanding of the phenomenon of the prophetess Evangelia Pandeva-Gushcherova. She is also Vangelia Pandeva, Vangelia Dmitrova and simply Babichka Vanga (1911 - 1996).

Anatoly Grigorievich BOGDANOVICH , member of the Union of Writers of Russia, member of the Union of Journalists of Russia, candidate of philosophical sciences.

The empirical basis of scientific understanding, which formed the basis of the encyclopedia: 500,000 (over half a million) visitors and patients of Vanga from all over the world; official data of the Sofia Institute of Suggestology and Parapsychology (here Vanga worked as a research fellow for 29 years: from 1967 to 1996); as well as information, knowledge, experiences, facts and observations, gleaned by me personally during 12 exclusive meetings with the clairvoyant Vanga (during the period of journalistic work in the Soviet-Bulgarian magazine "Friendship" and in other youth publications: 1980 - 1990).
All this predetermined the dual purpose of writing and publishing the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga". On the one hand, to give readers the most complete and reliable reference material for understanding the phenomenon of Vanga - as a unique, but quite explainable phenomenon from the field of science, parascience and parapsychology. On the other hand, to convey to the reader in all the details and particulars the life-giving impressions of personal communication with Vanga: and not only with the great prophetess and clairvoyant, but also as a research fellow at the Institute of Suggestology and Parapsychology, and also, what is no less - and perhaps even more important - the impressions of communication with Vanga as a simple peasant - an elderly wise-talking woman from the Bulgarian hinterland.
And that is precisely why, along with scientific information, numerous fragments of stories and vivid narratives with elements of philosophical, historical, philological, literary and psychological scientific reconstruction are included in the context of the reference material of the "Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga". But the reconstructions are directly based on the literal sayings, utterances, words and statements of Vanga.
And yet the priority feature of the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga" is that it is first and foremost a scientific publication. Scientific - where there is empirical information. Knowledge and facts obtained empirically not only state and comprehend the phenomenon of Vanga's clairvoyance, but also consider and analyze all phenomena in their interconnection.
In other words, this encyclopedia is a generalized result of both empirical and theoretical research. Including extensive scientific research into the conceptual apparatus of clairvoyance - both science and parascience and parapsychology.
And this scientific understanding of the phenomenon of Vanga's clairvoyance, coupled with a vivid description of her life, everyday life and personality, distinguishes the "Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga" from all other encyclopedias of general cultural, historical, literary and scientific profiles, and makes the "Encyclopedia of Vanga" an encyclopedia of a new type.

I will also place special emphasis on why the encyclopedia cites almost directly opposite sayings, statements and predictions of Vanga. And in connection with this, I will give an answer to the question: what is the truth and reliability of the sayings of the clairvoyant Vanga? And here we must keep in mind the following.
According to the assessment of famous Bulgarian researchers (Pantelei Zarev, Velichko Dobriyanov, Dimitar Filipov) and Russian scientists (Lyudmila Dudnikova, Yuri Galperin), the truth of Vanga's

I will also place special emphasis on why the encyclopedia cites almost directly opposite sayings, statements and predictions of Vanga. And in connection with this, I will give an answer to the question: what is the truth and reliability of the sayings of the clairvoyant Vanga? And here we must keep in mind the following.
According to the assessment of famous Bulgarian researchers (Pantelei Zarev, Velichko Dobriyanov, Dimitar Filipov) and Russian scientists (Lyudmila Dudnikova, Yuri Galperin), the truth of Vanga's predictions, verified experimentally, ranges from 65% to 88%, and the telepathic communication coefficient (TCC) is 0.716 (if we take absolute telepathic communication as 1.0).
However, the data from all these special experiments and studies, although objective and quite high, are still underestimated. In fact, the truth of Vanga's predictions (as well as her telepathic communications) is very close to a 100% result.
Because, firstly, Vanga often did not express herself with specific calendar dates, numbers and facts, but spoke with images and symbols, and how exactly to interpret these symbols and images depended to a greater extent on the adequacy of the listeners' perception. Whether they were simple patients or famous scientists - in this case it is not so important.
Secondly, Vanga expressed herself in Bulgarian with a characteristically complex southwestern dialect and with numerous inclusions of Macedonian and Greek vocabulary.
And finally, thirdly, according to the same famous research scientists, people (in 9 cases out of 100), who knew their future destiny from Vanga's predictions and in opposition to it took specific actions, deeds, actions and steps, - in their real life still managed to change their future. That is, they managed to avoid undesirable turns of their destiny and direct their own life in a favorable direction.
And for all this, it was also advisable to include Vanga's controversial sayings and ambiguous statements in the encyclopedia, in order to give future generations of linguists and philosophers a chance to cleanse Vanga's sayings from the superficial human husk and rethink the interpretation of the clairvoyant's predictions and explanations.
And since "The Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga" is both a scientific and a popular educational publication, the leitmotif of the encyclopedia is: page by page, fact by fact, day of life by day of life - to argue: Vanga is not a fortune teller at all and not only a fortune teller and herald, but also a clairvoyant initiated into science.
Now about what makes "The Great Encyclopedia of Vanga" the most desktop and so necessary popular book not only for a wide range of readers, but also for scientists of this world: historians, philosophers, theologians, literary scholars, political scientists, cultural scientists. And for natural scientists, mathematicians, physicists, chemists - too...
The point is that objectively it turned out this way: in a certain context, "The Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga" is an incomparable Book of books. Due to the fact that it connects the past, present and future. And connects with giant time rings, which Vanga herself called three Forms of time: "great time",just "time" and "times".
And it is precisely this "connector of times" that is the phenomenon of clairvoyant Vanga, a Phenomenon that opens access to the spiritual treasury of all times and all peoples. Including a phenomenon that allows one to comprehend the state of knowledge in the most diverse areas of life. A phenomenon that tells about historical figures and outstanding figures of science and art: in the trinity of the past, present and future. And through the prism of knowledge and comprehension of Truth.
And I am deeply convinced that "The Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga" is a book that will be useful to more than one of the future generations. And, I think, it will always be in demand as a compass in the boundless ocean of knowledge and discovery.

I would like to immediately focus the attention of a wide range of readers, eminent scientists, and those in power on the following.
We have heard the word "innovations" literally everywhere, everywhere, wherever you look - it is circulating and being said. The word is: good! But here's the problem: it is not fully understood. But "innovations" are: "in" (English) - "in", "within" + novations (Russian) - that is, new, just coming into use. In other words: "innovations" are what is "inside the new".
And here it emerges and puzzles... But this is: a paradox! A gap! A blunder! An inexplicable misunderstanding! Why suddenly among and within these "innovations" there was no place for "clairvoyance"?!!
Why on the threshold of the 21st century: in the very boom and priority for the publication of many different dictionaries, reference books and encyclopedias... Moreover, very diverse: academic, scientific, popular science, educational, educational, general cultural... Why among this diversity there was no place for the publication - neither in Russian, nor in any other language of the peoples of the world - of a single, at least somewhat serious encyclopedia, comprehending the phenomenon of clairvoyance of the most famous Bulgarian fortune teller... The one that is called in the world as babichka (Bulgarian) - grandmother Vanga .

And only in Russia in 1998-2002 an attempt was made to publish a multi-volume edition under the title "The Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga". Alas! This encyclopedia was then published in a tiny, exclusive print run: 4500 copies. As an edition of the magazine "Rossiyane" (formerly the Soviet-Bulgarian magazine "Druzhba"). But it also turned out to be unfinished: 11 volumes out of the planned 20 were published.

And yet this unfinished edition of the " Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga " has become in world science (according to the review of the famous scientist - N. Kh. Valitov, Doctor of Chemical Sciences, Professor, Academician of the New York Academy of Sciences) - a serious and significant phenomenon of a consolidated and systematized scientific understanding of the phenomenon of clairvoyance of Evangelia Pandeva-Gushcherova. She is also: Vangelia Pandeva , Vangelia Dimitrova and simply Babichka Vanga (1911-1996).
The empirical basis of scientific understanding: 500,000 (over half a million) visitors and patients of Vanga from all over the world; official data and scientific works of the Sofia Institute of Suggestology and Parapsychology (here Vanga worked as a research fellow for 29 years: from 1967 to 1996); as well as information, knowledge, experiences, facts and observations that I personally discovered during 12 exclusive meetings with the clairvoyant Vanga: during my journalistic work in the Soviet-Bulgarian magazine "Friendship" and in other youth publications in the 1980s - 1990s.
All this predetermined the dual purpose of writing and publishing the "Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga ".
On the one hand, to give the reader the most complete and reliable reference material for understanding the phenomenon of Vanga's clairvoyance - as a phenomenon in the field of science, parascience and parapsychology. On the other hand, to convey to the reader in all the details and particulars the life-giving impressions from personal communication with Vanga: and not only as a great prophetess and clairvoyant, but also as a research fellow at the Institute of Suggestology and Parapsychology and at the same time as a simple peasant - an elderly woman from the Bulgarian hinterland.
And that is why, along with scientific information, the context of the reference material of the " Great Encyclopedia of the Clairvoyant Vanga " includes both fragments of pictorial stories and vivid narratives with elements of philosophical, historical, philological, literary and psychological scientific reconstruction.

From the author. Part two

And yet the priority feature of the "Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga" is that it is first and foremost a scientific publication.

Scientific - where empirical information, knowledge and facts obtained through experience not only state and comprehend the phenomenon of Vanga's clairvoyance, but also consider and analyze all phenomena in their interconnection.

In other words, this encyclopedia is a generalized result of both empirical and theoretical research. Including extensive scientific research into the conceptual apparatus of clairvoyance - both science and parascience and parapsychology.

And this scientific understanding of the phenomenon of Vanga's clairvoyance, coupled with a vivid description of her life, everyday life and personality, distinguishes the "Great Encyclopedia of Clairvoyant Vanga" from all other encyclopedias of general cultural, historical, literary and scientific profiles, and makes the "Encyclopedia of Vanga" an encyclopedia of a new type.

I will also place special emphasis on why the encyclopedia contains almost directly opposite sayings, statements and predictions of Vanga . I would speculate that there is actual forbidden knowledge in Russian in whichever of these remaining 11 / 20 editions of a +20 years old Russian magazine are left. And I would say it would be very valuable if one could find them in a library, or in their basement under dust, process them through AI, and share them with the world in a censor-resistant manner, so we can analyze the information about our imminent unstable future from one of greatest remote viewers of human history.
